(5 star) "We preemptively searched for ticket promotions and decided that the Wild Wednesdays by O'Reilly Auto Parts was the best deal. This promotion includes your fair admission ticket ($14-20 value/adult) and a carnival rides wristband ($50 value) for ONLY $29!! For this promotion you just need to go to O'Reilly's Auto Parts and you can use that receipt to redeem at the ticket counter. "

(5 star) "This year they have $6.60 food specials. Mariscos chicken nachos were a decent deal. It's plain chips with nacho cheese and a generous amount of chicken. No salsa, sour cream, etc. This comes with a 16 oz drink of choice. Juicy's turkey tacos were a joke. You could barely see the turkey. Skip it! Chicken Charlie did not even have their $6.60 special at 11:30 am =/. Afters Ice Cream has a $6.60 single scoop. Bottom line: the $6.60 deals are mainly a miss. I hope you have better luck than me."

"Tip: Buy tickets via Groupon (MUST PRINT AT HOME) or any other means to save a bit of $ on admission. "

(5 star) "And this year select participating places have items that are priced at $6.60. Now that's a deal for the fair. ...My favorite was the bacon hot dog with fries and drink. It was delicious and a great price. ... Keep an eye out for discounts, this Friday is free for college students. Parking is $15."

(5 star) "Love the Fair! Is it a little pricey to get in, yes it is, but hey it's only here for a limited time so why not enjoy. Lots of things to see and so many options of food to choose from. This year they even have food specials at most of the food spots for $6.60... I feel that they are too expensive to ride because of all the tickets you have to buy, but the kids enjoy it so we'll get at least a few rides in for them. To really get your money's worth you should go to Costco and buy the family pack. Also, some banks offer coupons for a ticket discount. Keep an eye out and treat yourself to a day at the Fair."

(4 star) " Rancho Cuckamongo oopsie..i dont live there cookamonga?...but they get a $5 deal on Fridays. I have a Yellow convertible but I try to bus in and park my bike free hehe... Parking-$15, VIP Parking-$25 exercise and save money. Ralph's got tickets for $12 & kids $6.

Fair started Friday September 2. Jaimito says he gets in on Fridays for $1...go figure.

Costco has a great deal: 4 adult tickets, 1 general parking pass, and 44 game and ride tickets all for $62.99!

It's a good deal.....

Groupon had some good deals. Two adult tickets and a parking pass for $29 or 30

Tons of great deals...different deal each & everyday“

(4 star) “I highly recommend getting a deal online for games or food though when you purchase your ticket.”

(4 star) “It's really hot tonight & not crowded! Entrance was very well organized. Get your tickets from Costco, they have a family pack deal or get them for $12.00 at Cardinas Market. Overall it was a great experience.”

(3 star) “Usually, the fair is free on the opening day for the first few hours if you donate canned food. This year no such discount was offered. The website made information available a few days before the fair opened, We checked the website a week before the fair was to open; current information was not available. There are discounts available, but you will have to do the foot work to find the best deal for your family. We bought the 4 ticket package available at Costco.”

(3 star) “The fair has gotten so expensive.. not a lot of crazy food this year. We enjoyed the exhibit halls but pretty much the same type of vendors I'm each hall. I gave it 3 stars just because it's the fair and the food I did get was good. Like grilled corn, the giant corn dog and funnel cake. Costco had a great package deal, 4 tickets, 44 game or ride tickets and a parking pass for $59. Will I go again next year...yes”

(3 star) “Price: $20.00 - Adult Single Day Admission; $15.00 - Parking Single Day. People mountain people sea, tedious parking and overpriced food and games, expect to spend hundreds here. “

(3 star) “Expensive.

One of the most expensive fair I've been too.

30 for parking.

52 for 2 adult entry and one 9 year old, 6 and under go for free.

For lunch we got some tri tip burger, pizza, hot dog and some fires, 95 dollars, for 4 people.

Please bring some waters because there will be some walking and the bottle of waters are 4 dollars each!

I bought 100 tickets for 50 dollars. I went through that like a knife through butter.

I easily spent 300 dollars in tickets to enjoy the rides.

4 tickets for the boring, quick rides.

The fun, fast rides ask for 6-12 tickets.

Make sure you come with your wallet full, and be ready to leave everything there. “

(2 star) "Entry is at least $15. They do not have any deals like the OC Fair...."

Food and games costs roughly the same. The fair it self is super ghetto compared to the OC Fair though."

(2 star) "Too expensive! They really gouge ppl. I thought fairs were suppose to be family friendly and affordable. It's like 8 dollars for one churro, INSANE... After all the money u spend, you might as well go to Disneyland."

(2 star) "Going to the fair is incredibly expensive. You have to pay for parking $15 as well as a nonsense entrance fee $15 to $20 for nothing because you have to pay for the rides and food inside as well. You could park at a near by ride and share and take the bus or uber from there, which is not very far and save yourself about $12. The food is also over priced I believe you'll be payig double that usual for regular garlic fries."
